

FLOTATION EQUIPMENT

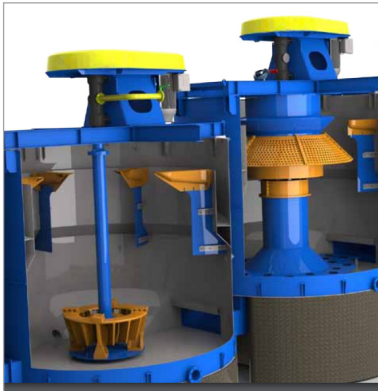

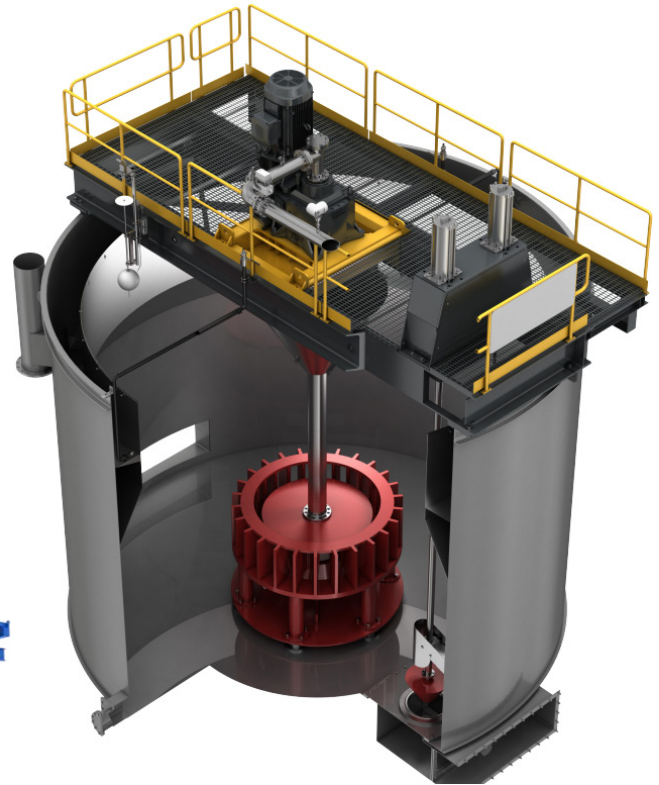

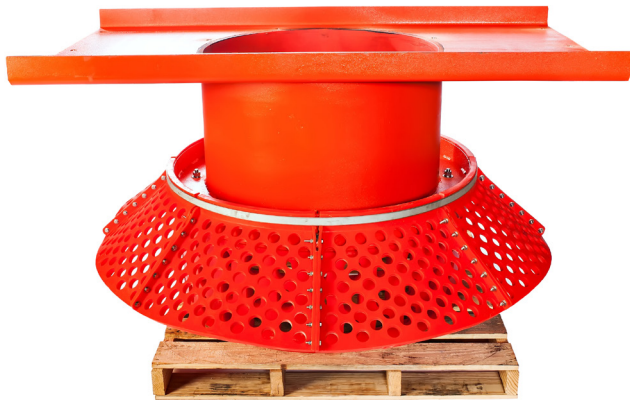

Iracore products use proprietary compounds designed specifically for flotation applications and their unique operating conditions. Our “OEM fit” design and high-quality construction ensure the industry’s highest recovery rates. We have been manufacturing flotation equipment for the mining industry for over 50 years. Our experience and design capabilities enable customization to any new or existing flotation cells.

Increase Recovery and Return on Investment

Premature wear from low-grade polymer flotation parts will increase maintenance, downtime, and replacement costs, decreasing product recovery. Iracore’s flotation equipment has down a 2 to 3 times longer wear life than other urethane and rubber manufacturers. As a result, our clients save thousands of dollars in maintenance and downtime while increasing recovery.
